😊 thank you for saying that about me.

I totally get that. I'm with a woman friend right now and we'll go together, but if you'd like me to go inside by myself, I can do that and record. My camera isn't working but I can get audio.

hi friend. you are a treasure. a lot of women have gone to t-rex to point out that they don't like that it's being used as a hunting ground and that the establishment is aware of the situation and doing nothing. i think the next tangible step is cis-white men going to t-rex, asking to speak with management or simply looking nick in the eye and saying i know you are a serial rapist/abuser and i won't let people enable you anymore. nothing physical. no yelling. just using your presence and automatic grace received for being white and a cis-dude. two men have agreed to do this but i think a critical or consistent mass is imperative. a black man who has been doing his best to help with the situation pointed out he felt we had hit a wall because people aren't going to listen to black people or women on this issue.
